OFF WORLD RACING LAUNCHES INTO EARLY ACCESS ON STEAM

Motorsport leaves Earth. Sanity optional.

London, UK — Off World Racing Company Ltd is proud to announce that Off World Racing, the genre-breaking interplanetary racing simulator, has officially entered Early Access on Steam. Strap in — Low gravity, physics are real, and the tracks are out of this world.

A Racing Game for People Who Think Earth Is Too Small

Why race in circles when you can drift through Europa's frozen oceans, blast across the volcanic surface of Io, or thread your way through Martian dust storms?

Off World Racing breaks every rule and writes new ones using real physics tuned for worlds that try to kill you.

This is motorsport reinvented for the next generation of explorers.

Built With Players — Because You're Basically the Pit Crew of the Future

Early Access isn't a "beta." It's a collaboration.
Players get full access to:

- Planetary racing circuits across Mars, Io, Europa, and the Moon
- Single-player time trials, challenges, and career routes
- Split Screen Multiplayer racing that turns friends into orbital debris
- Simulation mode for realism
- Arcade mode for chaos, laughter, and clips that streamers will worship

The team welcomes feedback, feature suggestions, wild ideas, and "hey, what if we did THIS on Titan?" conversations.

"We're building the future of racing, one crater at a time."

“Our goal is simple,” says the Off World Racing development team,
“Create the most outrageous, physics-driven motorsport experience ever made — and build it with the community watching, racing, and occasionally crashing.”

The game is already 80% complete, with Early Access funding powering the final polish, expanded world circuits, and multiplayer & AI improvements.
